FFO: Breeders, PJ Harvey, Cat Power

Groovy alt-indie rock project Tattooed In Blue first emerged in 2022 as the brainchild of Massachusetts-based queer singer-songwriter Christa Renee, who'd been searching for catharsis after a painful period of heartbreak. Fuelling her creative fire with a grant from Mass Cultural Council in 2023, Christa quickly channeled her raw emotions into a powerful exploration of heartbreak, resilience, and hope — and has been gaining momentum ever since.

Drawing on a diverse palette of influences from The Breeders, Nina Simone, and Curtis Mayfield to Pearl Jam and Nirvana to craft its sonic identity, Tattooed In Blue's uniquely gritty infusion of traditional alt-indie sounds with elements of Motown, reggae, soul and beyond — paired with an endearing and relatable lyrical approach — has rapidly earned them a diverse and growing fanbase, as well as acclaim and airtime from outlets like Frequence Musicali, Lovers Radio, and Glacier FM.

With 2 singles already out, recorded at the legendary all-analog Mystic Valley Studios with a lineup consisting of Dub Apocalypse's Chris Beam, Fiveighthirteen's Mike Walsh, Nick Phaneuf, and Mike Effenberger, rapper/producer ALI, and long-term collaborator Wm. Josiah Erikson, Tattooed In Blue is poised for a breakout year. More singles are set to drop in the buildup to the fall launch of their debut full-length vinyl album, Otherside, accompanied by a slew of gigs in the Northeast — a thrilling time indeed for fans new and old alike.
